

Dear Sir,

The complete radio boston programme can be heard here.

<http://radioboston.wbur.org/2012/01/04/harvard-professors-op-ed-sparks-free-speech-debate>

I wish to make one more point. If the hypothetical reason that a muslim student may be threatened by your presence as faculty post your article is considered, won't a girl student who is "straight" be threatened by a "not straight" lady faculty's presence? Can't this personal preference/orientation be used for throwing out your adversary at Harvard by the same convoluted logic?

All the best. You, as usual, were candid in the interview with strong arguments.

With best regards,
N. Madhavan

On Thu, Dec 15, 2011 at 4:16 AM, Subramanian Swamy <swamy39@gmail.com> wrote:
Many thanks. Swamy

On 14 December 2011 23:09, Madhavan Narayanasamy <madhavan.nsc@gmail.com> wrote:
Dear Sir,

The following sites are related to the recent highhandedness of some Harvard professors.

<http://www.theatlantic.com/national/archive/2011/12/maybe-subramanian-swamy-should-have-gone-to-yale/249970/>

<http://harvardmagazine.com/2011/12/occupy-harvard-subramanian-swamy-teaching-debated>

Hope you get support in abundance from sane voices and the spurious decision gets nullified offering due apology to you.

With best regards,
N. Madhavan